

The passion for motors and fans is in our genes:

There is so much we have in common...

... and now even a brand-new name.

The irresistible urge to constantly go and develop or improve solutions for ventilation and air-conditioning. Striving incessantly to find the perfect applications for our customers in the most diverse industries. And having the special ability to make motor engineering, aero-dynamics, and electronics come together and create customer solutions that are both intelligent and efficient. ebm, PAPST, and mvl have a lot in common and have been working hand in hand for years. Now, our shared passion for ventilation and air-conditioning is expressed in a joint name: ebm-papst.
